ANDIAMO

The flagship of the SD fleet, Sanlorenzo's first SD132 is the largest composite, semi-displacement yacht built by the Italian shipyard. Key features include lateral terraces that, when open, offer guests 70 square metres of walkable surface, and an asymmetrical exterior layout that enhances space and functionality across three decks.

78-METRE ADMIRAL

Admiral's steel and aluminium flagship hit the water at the shipyard's Marina di Carrara headquarters in January. A highlight is her diesel/electric propulsion system with variable speed generators and Azipods for reduced vibration and enhanced manoeuvrability. A lithium polymer battery also allows the yacht to anchor silently and emission free.

BIG NAAN

Modern, muscular and built for American owners who love to explore, the first Crossover 42 from Columbus Yachts boasts generous, flexible volume in the bow and a sundeck conceived for sociability, with a bar and a table that converts into a sunlounger when desired.

The aft deck accommodates a large tender with a built-in stern crane, as well as a swimming pool and lounge
